1.3 UNATTENDED CHILDREN

The Stillwater County Library welcomes and encourages children to visit the Library, use Library resources and services, and attend Library programs. Staff members are available to help and support children; however, the Library is not able to provide short-or long-term child care, or be responsible for unattended children.

Unattended children are children of any age who are apparently unaccompanied by a parent, guardian, and/or responsible caregiver. Children who are unable or unwilling to care for themselves may not be left alone in the Library and must have adequate supervision while in the Library. The Library is not responsible if children leave Library property unattended.

Parents, guardians, and/or caregivers are responsible for the safety, behavior and supervision of children at all times in the Library and on Library property. Children are expected to respect Library property and adhere to the rules outlined in the Rules of Conduct policy.

Library staff will attempt to contact a parent, guardian and/or caregiver in circumstances such as the following:

- An unattended child is engaging in behavior that is disruptive to other Library users, staff, or the normal operations of Library business.
- An unattended child is involved in a situation that is potentially harmful to the health or safety of the child and/or others.
- An unattended child is left alone at the Library at closing time.

Such situations will be handled on a case-by-case basis. If parents, guardians, and/or caregivers cannot be reached, or are unresponsive, the Library will work with other county agencies and/or the Columbus Police Department as needed for the child(ren)'s safety.

1.4 HARASSMENT AND LEWD BEHAVIOR

Patrons and staff have the right to enjoy an environment free from harassment or lewd conduct. Anyone, including patrons, who harasses staff or another patron will be asked to leave the Library, and a report will be filed with the Director. Repeated acts of harassment or acts that may escalate into violent or illegal actions will be reported to police. Lewd acts or sexual misconduct are not appropriate in the Library. Those who commit minor acts will be given one warning and then be asked to leave. Serious acts and acts involving minors will be reported to the Columbus Police Department and to the Director.

1.5 SOLICITATION POLICY

Solicitation of patrons and/or employees by non-employees, inside Library facilities, is prohibited regardless of the nature or content of the solicitation, the method of style or presentation, and presence of financial remuneration.

Active solicitation within the Library building, property, and the areas of egress to the Library and the Library parking lot is not permitted unless it is a Library function or an activity related to fundraising for the Library and under the general supervision of the Library staff. Active solicitation refers to any person-to-person communication for the purposes of (1) obtaining contributions and donations, (2) selling merchandise, coupons, or tickets, (3) collecting signatures, (4) distributing educational or promotional materials, (5) recruiting members or clients (6) financial solicitations/transactions, and (7) Political promotion.

The Stillwater County Library supports every patron's right to have his or her Library records remain confidential. Library records include patron registration data, circulation records, overdue and reserve records, participation in Library sponsored programs, record of Library visits, and/or any data that contain information that links a specific patron to specific materials or services used. Each patron has individual control over his or her borrower's card and presentation of the card permits access to information about the borrower's current circulation record. Except during the actual period of transaction (circulation, maintenance of record on unpaid bills, reservation of materials), the Library will not maintain a record of transactions. When no longer needed for Library administration purposes, records will be expunged. In compliance with MCA §22-1-1103, no information will be released to any person, agency, or organization, except to recover overdue materials through the release of information to parents, legal guardians, the Columbus Police Department, and the County Attorney's Office or in response to a valid court order or subpoena and properly presented to the Library Director, or if written permission to release and disclose Library records is placed at the Circulation Desk.

2.3 FINE POLICY

When a patron has items that are overdue for more than thirty (30) days, the patron will become blocked in the system. This means that they will not be able to renew items, or check any additional materials out until all of the overdue items are returned or replacement bills are paid. There will be no fine assessed when the items are returned and the patron's privileges will be immediately reinstated. Once the items have been overdue for sixty (60) days the user will receive a bill for the replacement value of the items. If the items are not returned and the bill is not paid within ten (10) days, the Library reserves the right to take legal action.

2.4 INTERLIBRARY LOAN

As determined by staff, materials not found in the Library may be borrowed from another Library (lending Library), following state and national interlibrary loan protocol and this Library's policies as outlined below. This policy does not apply to holds placed through the Library Catalog for items in the Partners system. For those items, regular circulation policies are followed.

- Persons requesting interlibrary loan services must have a current Stillwater County Library card.
- Maximum of three (3) interlibrary loan requests per month per Library card.
- Patrons shall be notified of and are responsible for prepaying any charges made by the lending Library.
 - The lending Library sets the due date.
 - Renewals may be granted by the lending Library but are not guaranteed.
 - Charges for lost or damaged materials will be billed to the patron in the amount determined by the lending Library.
 - No refunds will be provided.

Interlibrary loan privileges may be revoked if a patron does not adhere to the policy.

3.0 LIBRARY PROGRAMS

The Stillwater County Library offers programs for citizens of all ages. Programs may be developed and presented by Library staff or may be co-sponsored by the Library and other community organizations. Children's storytime programs will be presented by Library staff on a regular schedule throughout the year. Other programs for children and young adults will be planned, staff time and budget permitting. Programs for adults may be scheduled throughout the year as interest warrants. Speakers from community groups and businesses may be invited to present programs on topics of general interest or of a timely nature. Presenters may not directly solicit business before, during, or following a program, although cards and brochures may be left on the display table for attendees to pick up. No fees may be charged to attend any Library sponsored or co-sponsored program, however, the cost of supplies may be incurred. Library programs are generally open to anyone wishing to attend. Persons attending Library sponsored or co-sponsored programs are expected to adhere to the Library's policies on patron conduct.

4.0 DISTRIBUTION OF FREE MATERIALS

Display space is available to community organizations to disseminate information. Items that publicize community organizations and local events further the role of the Library as a source for non-profit, civic, cultural, educational, and recreational information.

Items for posting or distribution must be presented to Library Director for approval; items will be dated prior to being placed on the bulletin board or in the information rack. Items placed on the bulletin board may be displayed for a maximum of one (1) month. Library staff will remove items that have expired or that have been posted for one month. Items removed will be discarded; Library staff cannot return posters and flyers that have been displayed. Distribution or posting of items by the Library does not indicate endorsement of the issues, events, or services promoted by those materials. Items left or posted without approval will be removed and discarded.

5.0 GIFT POLICY

The Library may accept gifts of books, periodicals, and other materials, with the understanding that they may be added to the Library collection at the discretion of the Director.

The decision to include gift materials is based upon the following considerations:

1. Does the material meet the Library's standard of materials selection?
2. Is the physical condition of the material satisfactory?
3. Does the Library need the material or multiple copies in its collection?

Material not added to the collection may be placed in the annual book sale. The Library reserves the right to decide the conditions of display, housing, and access to the materials. No estimate of value of donated material will be furnished. Materials received will become the property of the Stillwater County Library. When gift materials are deemed no longer useful, the Library will dispose of them on the same basis it disposes of other materials.

Monetary donations for the purpose of acquiring materials are accepted and recommendations for specific items will be considered according to standard materials selections set forth in the Library policies.

6.0 GRIEVANCE POLICY

Patron complaints will be treated seriously, courteously, and with concern for the patrons' point of view. While each complaint is treated seriously, it remains an allegation until evidence is presented to support or reject the complaint. Grievances will remain confidential.

The following procedures should be followed in making a complaint against the Library, the staff, or another patron:

Step 1. Informal Resolution. Verbally inform a staff member or Director of your grievance.

Step 2. Written Grievance to Director. If a complaint cannot be resolved by the staff, a written complaint should be submitted to the Director. A complaint form is available upon request. The Director will respond in writing to the complaint. If the patron finds the Director's response unsatisfactory, the complaint will be forwarded to the Board of Trustees. The Board's decision will be final.

7.0 INCLEMENT WEATHER

As part of our commitment in providing excellent customer service, the Library will attempt to operate on a normal schedule during times of inclement weather until the conditions are determined to be unsafe for the public and staff. The decision to delay opening, close early, or close all day is based on the ability to meet minimal staffing levels, road conditions, and the physical condition of the facility, including the sidewalks and parking lots. All closures are approved by a majority of the Board of Trustees.

During periods of inclement weather, the Library will post notice on the front door as well as social media. Patrons can also call the Library to learn of any changes in hours before they attempt to visit.

Artists can submit representative examples of the artwork to be considered for display, along with an Art Exhibit application, to slibrary@mtlib.org.

The Library Director will determine the relevance of, the conditions for, and the availability of suitable space for the exhibit. The following requirements also apply:

1. Applications for exhibits will be granted on a first-come, first-serve basis. The Library reserves the right to place limits on location, duration, and size of exhibits.
2. Library-initiated exhibits will be given priority.
3. Items intended for exhibit must be approved before installation. Children and adults who have various degrees of maturity view library exhibits; therefore, exhibitors must keep the audience in mind. The Library Director will consider a wide range of artistic expression when choosing exhibitors while being mindful that all segments of the community and all age groups will have access to the display area. In an effort to have a welcoming, stress-free environment for all, the library will not display works that promote a specific religious concept, espouse partisan politics, demean groups or individuals, or contain nudity or graphic violence.
4. The Library Director reserves the right to reject any exhibit in full, or in part, including during the time-period of the exhibit. Items may also be rejected from an exhibit due to space concerns. See Exhibit Display Information for details on available spaces.
5. Display areas are accessible only during Library business or previously-approved hours.
6. Each exhibitor is responsible for hanging their artwork and for providing all necessary materials for organizing an exhibit. It is the responsibility of the exhibitor to set up, maintain and remove the exhibit. Exhibits will normally be scheduled for a period of three (3) calendar months. Exceptions must be approved by the Library Director.
7. The Stillwater County Library does not carry insurance to cover the loss of items included in an exhibit. The Library cannot assume financial liability for loss or damage. Since the exhibit may be in an unsupervised area, exhibitors should consider the possibility of providing private insurance if security is a concern. Exhibitors must sign a waiver of liability holding the Library, its employees and trustees, and the County harmless for any damage to loaned material.
8. Publicity is the responsibility of the exhibitor except when the exhibit is co-sponsored by the Library. The title of an artwork along with an artist's statement and biographical information may be displayed in a pleasing manner next to the artwork. Business cards may be left with library staff to be given to patrons who express an interest in the work.

9. Exhibitors may not schedule special opening or other events without the permission of the Library Director. All arrangements must be approved by the Library Director at least two weeks prior to the planned event. No alcoholic beverages can be served, and the event may not interfere with normal library functions. The event must be open to the general public.
10. No prices may be posted on the items in the exhibit, nor may an admission fee be charged for the exhibit. Transactions or the purchase of an exhibit item shall be directly between the purchaser and the exhibitor. No sales may be made on the premises. No exhibit material which is sold during its display in the library may be removed before the end of the exhibition period.
11. Granting of permission to use Library facilities does not constitute an endorsement by the Library staff, the Library trustees, or Stillwater County, of the content of the exhibit, the materials exhibited, or of the exhibitor(s).
12. Failure to abide by these requirements could result in denial of further requests to utilize Library exhibit spaces.

Stillwater County Library Collection Development Policy

12.0 INTRODUCTION

Mission Statement

The Stillwater County Library serves as a community destination for knowledge, inspiration, innovation, and support.

Purpose of the Collection Development Policy

The Collection Development Policy is designed to support the Library's Mission statement and serves as a guide for the selection, acquisition, maintenance, and retention of materials by establishing roles, responsibilities, and a process for addressing Library user concerns. This policy is reviewed, updated, and approved by the Library Board at least every three (3) years.

The Community

Stillwater County serves a largely rural population with industries such as agriculture, education, small business, and health care, tourism, and an active mining industry. The individuals in the community reflect varying economic and educational backgrounds. Decisions regarding collection development are made with an understanding of the dynamic and diverse makeup of the community. The collections and services will continue to evolve and grow to continue to meet the needs of county residents.

Patron Needs and Services

The primary responsibility of the Stillwater County Library is to serve the citizens of Stillwater County by providing a broad choice of materials to meet their informational, educational, cultural, and recreational needs. Additional materials may be available through the Partners sharing program or OCLC (Online Computer Library Center) interlibrary loan.

Computers are available to the public for internet access, plus free Wi-Fi accessible inside and outside the building 24/7. The library offers various in-building and outreach programs such as storytime, book clubs, summer reading, art and humanities events, as well as technology assistance. A book sale is held regularly.

Collection Description

Materials in the library provide information for diverse viewpoints on a wide range of interests. There are approximately 20,000 items in the library collection including fiction, nonfiction, audio books, large print, DVDs, reference material, and materials for children and teens. There are over fifteen (15) periodicals, plus the Billings Gazette and the Stillwater County News. The collection is weeded and added to monthly. The library subscribes to a variety of sources such as BookFlix, World Book Encyclopedia, and Montana Library 2 Go, providing patrons free access to over 41,000 downloadable e-books, magazines, and audio books.

Cooperative Collection Development

The Stillwater County Library is a member of the South Central Library Federation. The library uses OCLC to catalog all new records and participates in interlibrary loan borrowing.

12.1 MATERIAL SELECTION

For a well-rounded collection, librarians select materials based on local and national demand, professional and popular media reviews, recommendations from the public and other library staff, while also ensuring adequate availability of basic literary materials. Budget and space limitations require a focus on materials that appeal to a broad range of users. Materials available in the library present a diversity of viewpoints, enabling citizens to make informed choices necessary in a democracy.

Criteria

All materials, whether purchased or donated, are subject to the criteria listed below:

- Current and anticipated needs and interests of the public
- Enduring value
- Treatment of subject for intended audience
- Physical durability
- Creative, literary or technical quality/merit
- Quality of the production
- Cost and availability
- Evaluations in review media
- Professional or literary reputation of the author, publisher or producer
- Relation to existing collection and other materials on the subject
- Space and budgetary limits
- Suitability of the format for library use
- Availability in other formats

An item need not meet all of these standards to be included in the Library's collection. The choice of library materials by users is an individual matter. Responsibility for the reading materials of children and adolescents rests with their parents or guardians.

Chronological Coverage

The collection is continuously being updated. Nonfiction and fiction titles are weeded to keep the collection as up to date as possible. Medical titles are within five (5) years old. Outdated materials are discarded. Discarded materials are placed in the book sale, unless they have potential mold issues. The following collections hold materials that will be retained for historical purposes: History, Montana, and Native American.

Formats

The Library collects materials in a variety of formats including print, audiovisual, and digital. When choosing a format for a physical item, consideration is given to the condition and durability of the materials used in the item's construction and how the item will hold up over time.

When selecting audiovisual and digital materials, the most commonly used format is chosen. Formats rendered obsolete due to the prevalence of a new format will not be added to the collection.

Multiple Copies

Multiple copies of materials are purchased only if there are a large number of holds on a title.

Languages

Materials published in languages other than English are purchased for the collection in response to local demographics, demonstrated need, and according to popular demand. Currently, the collection includes Spanish, German, French, Italian, and Japanese learning materials, and several dual language books in Spanish and Native American languages.

Funding Considerations

The Stillwater County Library serves a population of over 9,600. The main funding is from Stillwater County mills. The library also receives moneys in the form of state aid, South Central Library Federation payments, grants, and donations.

Responsibility for Selection

The authority and responsibility for the selection of library materials rest ultimately with the Library Director. Under his/her direction, selection is delegated to the professional library staff. A demand-driven selection policy is followed, and staff members and the general public are encouraged to recommend materials for consideration.

All materials, whether purchased or donated, are considered in the terms of the criteria listed below. An item need not meet all of these standards in order to be added to the collection.

- Popular interest
- Contemporary significance or permanent value
- Currency of information
- Accuracy
- Local emphasis
- Readability or ability to sustain interest
- Treatment of subject to age of intended audience
- Format and ease of use
- Cost and availability

12.3 COLLECTION MAINTENANCE

Maintenance of the Library's collection through continuous re-evaluation by the library staff ensures its usefulness and relevancy to the community. Library materials are expensive to purchase, process, and house. SCL acknowledges the necessity of preserving library materials and supports the American Library Association's "Preservation Policy." Damaged items that are found to still have value in our collection will be considered for mending. If mending is untenable due to continued use and wear, every effort will be made to replace those items if in accordance with collection development policies.

Items are regularly removed to keep the collection current and appealing. Quality of the publisher, currency of the material, condition of the item, number of additional copies of the title, relevance to the needs of the community, and format are all considered when removing materials from the collection. "Last copy" status is not a consideration. Those materials determined to no longer be of value are withdrawn from the collection.

Library materials are discarded for one or more of the following reasons:

- Obsolescence: Subject matter is no longer timely, accurate or relevant
- Damage or poor condition
- Insufficient use

Materials will be replaced if still needed.

12.4 INTELLECTUAL FREEDOM AND CENSORSHIP

Stillwater County Library endorses the principles of the Freedom to Read Statement, the Freedom to View Statement, and the Library Bill of Rights adopted by the American Library Association. The mentioned documents follow this policy.

As proclaimed in the Bill of Rights to the United States Constitution, freedom of expression, specifically the right to publish diverse opinions, is essential to the democratic form of government. A public institution committed to the principles of democracy and intellectual freedom, SCL recognizes its obligation to provide as wide a spectrum of materials as possible.

Diverse points of view, including controversial and unorthodox subjects, are available in this collection. Inclusion in the collection does not imply library approval of or agreement with the contents.

Library materials are not marked or identified to show approval or disapproval of the contents, nor are materials sequestered except for the purpose of protecting them from damage or theft.

No restrictions are placed on what anyone may read, view, or listen to. Selection of materials to include in the collection will not be made on the basis of any anticipated approval or disapproval, but solely on the merits of the material in relation to building the collection and to serving the needs and the interests of all users.

Individuals or groups may occasionally question the inclusion of an item in the collection. Although the Library understands this concern, it is the Library's position that the risk to society is far greater if public access to ideas and information is restricted. While anyone is free to select or reject materials for themselves or their own minor children or wards, the values of one will not be imposed on the many. Parents and legal guardians have the responsibility for their child's or ward's use of library materials.

Reconsideration of Library Materials

If a library user wishes the Library to consider the removal or reclassification of a work (i.e., a proposal to change a YA title to Adult), a "Request for Reconsideration of Library Resources" form can be obtained from Library staff. The request must be completed in its entirety and mailed or delivered to the Library Director. The Director and the Library Board of Trustees will review challenges. Materials belonging to a Partner library are exempt from requests for reconsideration unless they are initiated by a user of that specific library. Materials requests for reconsideration for MTLibrary2Go may be directed to the Montana State Library at (800) 338-5087. The patron will be informed of the Trustees' decision regarding the challenge.

The Freedom to Read Statement

The freedom to read is essential to our democracy. It is continuously under attack. Private groups and public authorities in various parts of the country are working to remove or limit access to reading materials, to censor content in schools, to label "controversial" views, to distribute lists of "objectionable" books or authors, and to purge libraries. These actions apparently rise from a view that our national tradition of free expression is no longer valid; that censorship and suppression are needed to counter threats to safety or national security, as well as to avoid the subversion of politics and the corruption of morals. We, as individuals devoted to reading and as librarians and publishers responsible for disseminating ideas, wish to assert the public interest in the preservation of the freedom to read.

Most attempts at suppression rest on a denial of the fundamental premise of democracy: that the ordinary individual, by exercising critical judgment, will select the good and reject the bad. We trust Americans to recognize propaganda and misinformation, and to make their own decisions about what they read and believe. We do not believe they are prepared to sacrifice their heritage of a free press in order to be "protected" against what others think may be bad for them. We believe they still favor free enterprise in ideas and expression.

These efforts at suppression are related to a larger pattern of pressures being brought against education, the press, art and images, films, broadcast media, and the Internet. The problem is not only one of actual censorship. The shadow of fear cast by these pressures leads, we suspect, to an even larger voluntary curtailment of expression by those who seek to avoid controversy or unwelcome scrutiny by government officials.

Such pressure toward conformity is perhaps natural to a time of accelerated change. And yet suppression is never more dangerous than in such a time of social tension. Freedom has given the United States the elasticity to endure strain. Freedom keeps open the path of novel and creative solutions, and enables change to come by choice. Every silencing of a heresy, every enforcement of an orthodoxy, diminishes the toughness and resilience of our society and leaves it the less able to deal with controversy and difference.

Now as always in our history, reading is among our greatest freedoms. The freedom to read and write is almost the only means for making generally available ideas or manners of expression that can initially command only a small audience. The written word is the natural medium for the new idea and the untried voice from which come the original contributions to social growth. It is essential to the extended discussion that serious thought requires, and to the accumulation of knowledge and ideas into organized collections.

We believe that free communication is essential to the preservation of a free society and a creative culture. We believe that these pressures toward conformity present the danger of limiting the range and variety of inquiry and expression on which our democracy and our culture depend. We believe that every American community must jealously guard the freedom to publish and to circulate, in order to preserve its own freedom to read. We believe that publishers and librarians have a profound responsibility to give validity to that freedom to read by making it possible for the readers to choose freely from a variety of offerings.

The freedom to read is guaranteed by the Constitution. Those with faith in free people will stand firm on these constitutional guarantees of essential rights and will exercise the responsibilities that accompany these rights.

We therefore affirm these propositions:

It is in the public interest for publishers and librarians to make available the widest diversity of views and expressions, including those that are unorthodox, unpopular, or considered dangerous by the majority.

Creative thought is by definition new, and what is new is different. The bearer of every new thought is a rebel until that idea is refined and tested. Totalitarian systems attempt to maintain themselves in power by the ruthless suppression of any concept that challenges the established orthodoxy. The power of a democratic system to adapt to change is vastly strengthened by the freedom of its citizens to choose widely from among conflicting opinions offered freely to them. To stifle every nonconformist idea at birth would mark the end of the democratic process. Furthermore, only through the constant activity of weighing and selecting can the democratic mind attain the strength demanded by times like these. We need to know not only what we believe but why we believe it.

Publishers, librarians, and booksellers do not need to endorse every idea or presentation they make available. It would conflict with the public interest for them to establish their own political, moral, or aesthetic views as a standard for determining what should be published or circulated.

Publishers and librarians serve the educational process by helping to make available knowledge and ideas required for the growth of the mind and the increase of learning. They do not foster education by imposing as mentors the patterns of their own thought. The people should have the freedom to read and consider a broader range of ideas than those that may be held by any single librarian or publisher or government or church. It is wrong that what one can read should be confined to what another thinks proper.

It is contrary to the public interest for publishers or librarians to bar access to writings on the basis of the personal history or political affiliations of the author.

No art or literature can flourish if it is to be measured by the political views or private lives of its creators. No society of free people can flourish that draws up lists of writers to whom it will not listen, whatever they may have to say.

There is no place in our society for efforts to coerce the taste of others, to confine adults to the reading matter deemed suitable for adolescents, or to inhibit the efforts of writers to achieve artistic expression.

To some, much of modern expression is shocking. But is not much of life itself shocking? We cut off literature at the source if we prevent writers from dealing with the stuff of life. Parents and teachers have a responsibility to prepare the young to meet the diversity of experiences in life to which they will be exposed, as they have a responsibility to help them learn to think critically for themselves. These are affirmative responsibilities, not to be discharged simply by preventing them from reading works for which they are not yet prepared. In these matters values differ, and values cannot be legislated; nor can machinery be devised that will suit the demands of one group without limiting the freedom of others.

It is not in the public interest to force a reader to accept the prejudgment of a label characterizing any expression or its author as subversive or dangerous.

The ideal of labeling presupposes the existence of individuals or groups with wisdom to determine by authority what is good or bad for others. It presupposes that individuals must be directed in making up their minds about the ideas they examine. But Americans do not need others to do their thinking for them.

It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians, as guardians of the people's freedom to read, to contest encroachments upon that freedom by individuals or groups seeking to impose their own standards or tastes upon the community at large; and by the government whenever it seeks to reduce or deny public access to public information.

It is inevitable in the give and take of the democratic process that the political, the moral, or the aesthetic concepts of an individual or group will occasionally collide with those of another individual or group. In a free society individuals are free to determine for themselves what they wish to read, and each group is free to determine what it will recommend to its freely associated members. But no group has the right to take the law into its own hands, and to impose its own concept of politics or morality upon other members of a democratic society. Freedom is no freedom if it is accorded only to the accepted and the inoffensive. Further, democratic societies are more safe, free, and creative when the free flow of public information is not restricted by governmental prerogative or self-censorship.

It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians to give full meaning to the freedom to read by providing books that enrich the quality and diversity of thought and expression. By the exercise of this affirmative responsibility, they can demonstrate that the answer to a "bad" book is a good one, the answer to a "bad" idea is a good one.

The freedom to read is of little consequence when the reader cannot obtain matter fit for that reader's purpose. What is needed is not only the absence of restraint, but the positive provision of opportunity for the people to read the best that has been thought and said. Books are the major channel by which the intellectual inheritance is handed down, and the principal means of its testing and growth. The defense of the freedom to read requires of all publishers and librarians the utmost of their faculties, and deserves of all Americans the fullest of their support.

We state these propositions neither lightly nor as easy generalizations. We here stake out a lofty claim for the value of the written word. We do so because we believe that it is possessed of enormous variety and usefulness, worthy of cherishing and keeping free. We realize that the application of these propositions may mean the dissemination of ideas and manners of expression that are repugnant to many persons. We do not state these propositions in the comfortable belief that what people read is unimportant. We believe rather that what people read is deeply important; that ideas can be dangerous; but that the suppression of ideas is fatal to a democratic society. Freedom itself is a dangerous way of life, but it is ours.

This statement was originally issued in May of 1953 by the Westchester Conference of the American Library Association and the American Book Publishers Council, which in 1970 consolidated with the American Educational Publishers Institute to become the Association of American Publishers.

Freedom to View Statement

The FREEDOM TO VIEW, along with the freedom to speak, to hear, and to read, is protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. In a free society, there is no place for censorship of any medium of expression. Therefore these principles are affirmed:

1. To provide the broadest access to film, video, and other audiovisual materials because they are a means for the communication of ideas. Liberty of circulation is essential to insure the constitutional guarantee of freedom of expression.
2. To protect the confidentiality of all individuals and institutions using film, video, and other audiovisual materials.
3. To provide film, video, and other audiovisual materials which represent a diversity of views and expression. Selection of a work does not constitute or imply agreement with or approval of the content.
4. To provide a diversity of viewpoints without the constraint of labeling or prejudging film, video, or other audiovisual materials on the basis of the moral, religious, or political beliefs of the producer or filmmaker or on the basis of controversial content.
5. To contest vigorously, by all lawful means, every encroachment upon the public's freedom to view.

This statement was originally drafted by the Freedom to View Committee of the American Film and Video Association (formerly the Educational Film Library Association) and was adopted by the AFVA Board of Directors in February 1979. This statement was updated and approved by the AFVA Board of Directors in 1989.

II. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.

III. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.

IV. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.

V. A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.

13.0 Stillwater County Library Naming Policy

AUTHORITY

The Board of Trustees of Stillwater County Library (Library Board) has the final and exclusive authority for the naming of library facilities pursuant to MCA §22-1-309. Library facilities include buildings, gardens, outdoor spaces, rooms, spaces, and collections.

PURPOSE

The Library Board recognizes that public libraries and the communities they serve benefit greatly from private funding and encourages the support of Library patrons, friends, corporations, and other organizations interested in contributing to the advancement of the Library.

The Library Board considers naming of library facilities to be a distinct honor.

13.1 LIBRARY NAMING CRITERIA

Tribute for Gift(s): Distinct Library areas may be named for individuals, families, organizations or businesses whose actions and reputations reflect the mission of the Stillwater County Library in tribute for naming gifts.

- i. The Library Board, in collaboration with the Library Director and the Stillwater County Library Foundation, may maintain an approved list of commemorative gift opportunities (meeting rooms, reading areas, outdoor spaces, programs, vehicles etc.).
- ii. Naming opportunities are not generally available for gifts of real or personal property until such gifts have been converted to cash, which will then be used as the value of the gift for naming purposes.

Tribute in Honor: Library areas may be named in honor of individuals or families whose actions and reputations reflect the mission of Stillwater County Library and who meet one of the following criteria:

- i. Recognized as a regional leader with strong ties to the Library; or
- ii. Recognized as distinguished in the area of library service to the Stillwater County community

When a proposal involves the use of the name of a deceased person, approval is contingent on the agreement of that person's next of kin. In the event the deceased person made a bequest in his or her will, the Library Director and Board will obtain approval from the decedent's personal representative in compliance with the will's directives.

In order to avoid any appearance of commercial influence or conflict of interest, or any other potentially adverse consequences, additional due diligence shall be undertaken before recommending the naming opportunities that include a commercial enterprise. Naming opportunities may be assigned that include a commercial enterprise only if the proposed name is appropriate to the public setting of the Library and will not detract from the Library's use or the Library's reputation as a public entity.

Naming agreements may be modified in the event that: 1) the named facility or subunit of a facility is substantially renovated, expanded or designated for another use; 2) the named facility or subunit of a facility is sold, destroyed, removed or abandoned; 3) a named business, organization or entity changes its name and/or focus of operations, or ceases operation.

During their tenure, members of the staff, the Library Board, the Stillwater County Library Foundation Board, and elected officials are not eligible for naming.

The Library Board reserves the right to terminate a naming opportunity if, in its judgement, there are compelling reasons or circumstances justifying such action.

13.2 LIBRARY NAMING PROCESS

Notification of the Library Board

- i. Tribute for Gift(s): Upon receipt of an appropriate naming gift, the Library Director shall conduct a cost analysis, then submit a Tribute for Gifts Naming Proposal to the Library Board. The Tribute for Gifts Naming Proposal shall identify the Library area to be named, describe the proposed commemorative tribute and confirm receipt of the naming gift as defined in Section III of this policy.
- ii. Tribute in Honor: Members of the public may submit a Tribute in Honor Naming Proposal in writing to the Library Board. A Tribute in Honor Naming Proposal shall identify the Library area to be named, describe the proposed commemorative tribute and provide information about the person to be honored including how they meet the criteria described in Section 13.1 of this policy.
- iii. If the Naming Proposal calls for the renaming of a Library area, the Library Director shall also submit a Director Renaming Report to the Library Board. The Director Renaming Report shall review any agreements or documentation that covers an existing name, the historical significance of that name and costs associated with changing the name.

Public Consideration: Within ninety (90) days of receiving a Naming Proposal, the Library Board will hold at least one public meeting to consider a name for a Library facility. Notice shall include the proposed name, date, time and location of the meeting. The public meeting will take place during a regularly scheduled Library Board meeting.

Board Decision: Any naming proposal must be unanimously approved by the Board.

Implementation:

Plaques, signage and other recognition vehicles will be placed in appropriate locations and will be consistent with the Library's image and design requirements.
